

JAN VAN DAM GROUP

Installation of industrial automation, production lines, and machinery. One point of contact, minimal downtime, maximum precision. we cover it all

Our installation team is the technical heart of Jan van Dam Machine Transport. We specialize in fully (dis)assembling, aligning, and reconnecting industrial robots, production lines, and machinery in the metal and food sectors.

Technology and logistics in one team

We combine technical expertise with logistical experience. Our team originates from Jan van Dam Machine Transport, which means we understand exactly how technology and logistics interconnect. Our technicians know the transport process inside out and seamlessly align their work with it. This ensures that installation and relocation run smoothly together.

Saving time and money

By involving our installation team, you save time and reduce costs for your own technical staff. We ensure that your machines are up and running quickly and correctly, minimizing production downtime.

Precision with our laser measuring system

We use an advanced laser measuring system to align long machine components, such as robot tracks, with accuracy up to one-hundredth of a millimeter. This saves time, prevents deviations, and increases reliability. Optionally, we provide measurement reports before and after installation.

Our guarantees

1. Flexibility

We adapt flexibly to your situation and actively contribute to your business process.

2. Solution-oriented

We think in terms of possibilities, even when unexpected situations arise on-site.

3. Order and cleanliness

We work in a structured way and leave every workplace clean and orderly.

4. One contact person

Before, during, and after the project, you always have a single point of contact.

5. Precision

Our advanced measuring system guarantees installation accuracy down to your exact specifications.

6. Practical approach

We provide smart, directly applicable solutions tailored to on-site conditions.

One point of contact

With our installation team, you have one partner and one point of contact for the entire process. We take care of both transport and installation ourselves. You don't need to make separate arrangements with multiple parties. We take responsibility for the entire process, from planning to technical handover.
